THE LAST WORLD WAR

Earth	planet
-------	--------

Ten. Nine. Eight.....One. Fire! They sent a rocket into the sky.

20407

The rocket went up. Cities and villages were far below.

Henry spoke to his wife. "Now we are safe."

"Yes, we are safe," said his wife. "There is a war on Earth* but there isn't any war on Mars.*"

Henry, his wife and their son Tom were going to Mars.

They did not like war.

They flew many days and many months. They passed many stars. Tom felt lonely*. He missed his class-mates*.

"When will we arrive on Mars?" Tom asked his father.

"We'll arrive in eight months," Henry told his son.

Tom had nothing to do in the rocket. He slept. When he was awake, his father told him stories about Mars and the world war on Earth.

Eight months passed, and the pilot saw a red planet*.

The planet was Mars.

"Come and look. It's Mars!" All of them were happy.

The rocket came down on Mars. Henry and his family climbed out of the rocket. They did not see any cities or villages. They did not see any houses.

"There are no houses. There are no shops. There are no hospitals. We can't live here," Henry's wife, Mary, said.

"Yes, we can live here. We can live in a camp. We can grow our food and we will not be sick," Henry told his wife.

It was day-time, and it was very hot. The wind did not blow.

"I don't like Mars," said Mary. "I want to return to Earth."

"No, we can't return to Earth. We are about 35 million* miles from Earth, and there is a world war there," Henry told Mary.

Mary wanted to cry.

Life on Mars was hard. The days were hot, and the nights were cold. The family lived in a camp. Henry and Mary started to grow some plants to eat. They grew cabbages, potatoes and onions.

One day Mary wanted some cabbages. Henry went into the garden to get some cabbages for her.

The cabbages on Mars were red, and they had black eyes.
The cabbages started to walk. They opened their leaves.
They wanted to eat Henry.

"Mary, Tom, run to the mountain!" Henry shouted. "The cabbages will eat us!"

They ran to the mountain. There were some men from Earth there. They lived with those men.

Ten years passed. One rocket came to Mars, and a pilot climbed out.

He went to the mountain. Men and women from Earth were there.

"I came to take you back to Earth," the pilot told everyone. "The world war stopped."

"Who are you?" Henry asked him.

"We don't know you."

"I'm from Earth," the pilot said.

"Don't believe him," Henry told everyone there. "He is not a man. Look at him."

They looked at the pilot. He was short, and he had thick hair on his body. His lips were thick. His hands were very long. His hands touched his feet. He was a big monkey.

"No, we don't want to return to Earth with you. You are a monkey. We can't live with silly monkeys," they said.

"Monkeys are not silly. Men are silly. There are no men on Earth now. Monkeys rule* Earth," the pilot told them.

"Men started the war, and they all died in the war."
